

-- BULLETIN --

James C. Gaither Junior Fellows Program

Each year, the James C. Gaither Junior Fellows Program at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace holds a rigorous national competition to select approximately 14 graduating seniors to serve as research assistants. They are matched with senior fellows to work on a variety of international affairs topics. Junior Fellows have the opportunity to conduct research for Carnegie publications, participate in meetings with high-level officials, contribute to congressional testimony and organize briefings attended by scholars, journalists and government officials.

James C. Gaither Junior Fellows spend 10-12 months (beginning September 1st) at Carnegie in Washington, DC. Positions are full-time and include a salary and benefits package. We encourage you to review our website (<http://carnegieendowment.org/>) for more information on each program/project listed below.

As an organization dedicated to pursuing global engagement and peace, we believe the Carnegie's work is enriched and should be informed by a diverse array of perspectives. We are committed to building a diverse, equitable, and inclusive community among staff and partners and on our public platform, and we encourage diverse candidates to apply.

2023-2024 Programs or Projects

Democracy, Conflict, and Governance

American Statecraft

Nuclear Policy

Technology and International Affairs – Strong writing skills and research skills are essential.

Middle East – Strong reading fluency and the ability to perform academic as well as on-line research in Arabic essential. Strong background in Middle East politics and/or history is a huge plus.

International Security and Political Economy [to work with the South Asia Program] – Quantitative data analysis and GIS skills are required. A strong mathematical background is a plus. An academic background in international relations theory or international political economy along with an interest in military issues is essential.

Asia Program (Indo-Pacific Security) – Mandarin Chinese language skills and familiarity with Asian security, defense and foreign policy issues are essential. Proficiency in Japanese, Bahasa, or another Asian language is a plus.

Asia Program (China, Economics and Technology) – Mandarin Chinese language skills are required. Background in economics or emerging technologies strongly preferred.

Russia and Eurasia – Excellent Russian reading skills required.

Africa Program

Global Order and Institutions - An academic background in international institutions and the management of transnational challenges is strongly preferred.

Sustainability, Climate and Geopolitics - Basic data skills (such as helping create graphs or tables for Carnegie publications) are a plus. Applicants should have completed coursework related to sustainability and climate issues.

Europe - Fluency and the ability to perform research in a European language other than English are a plus. Background knowledge on European politics is essential.

To apply, visit UW's Office of Merit Scholarships, Fellowships & Awards:
<https://new.expo.uw.edu/expo/scholarships/carnegie>.

Contact: Robin Chang, robinc@uw.edu Apply for UW nomination by Dec. 5, 2022!